What is Global Young Leaders Conference?

The Global Young Leaders Conference (GYLC) provides an opportunity for high-achieving high students with a passion for global issues and international affairs to receive in-demand leadership skills and gain the diverse perspectives of peers from around the world.

The 10-day leadership program starts off in Washington, DC and ends in New York City. While in Washington, DC, the students will visit international embassies and connect with global issues leaders, in addition to participating in Global Issues workshops, where they will work to provide solutions to various 21st century challenges impacting our world. During their time in New York City, the students will draft policy proposals and participate in a Global Summit simulation.

Why should I or my child attend this program?

It is no secret that the world is changing. Due to rapid advancements in technology and automation, the jobs of yesterday are no longer the jobs of today, and the jobs of today are unlikely to be the jobs of tomorrow.

We are already seeing the educational impact of this technological shift. While diplomas and degrees served their holders so well in the past, more and more they are being seen as insufficient by many employers. More than ever, it is essential that students gain tangible skills that set them apart from their peers; the kind of life-ready skills that can't be automated.

Founded on a 21st-century curriculum and learning techniques, GYLC provides students with hands-on learning opportunities that challenge them to think in new ways and helps them establish and grow essential skills that will allow them to succeed in our ever-evolving world, all in an engaging and exhilarating atmosphere.

"It allowed my child to develop leadership skills and interact with international scholars."

- Marielisa G, Mother of GYLC Alumni

"Putting yourself in the shoes of a foreign minister of your country had a huge learning impact. I learned how to decide on resolutions diplomatically, push for your nation's interest, and communicate with other delegates in a formal and professional manner."

- Dorothee B, GYLC Alumna

How much does it cost to attend GYLC?

A number of factors determine the pricing of our programs, including location, length of program, and complexity of curriculum. For GYLC, tuition is $3,095, and we have payment plans available. More information on the cost of attending the program can be found at YoungLeader.com/GYLC/info

To ensure that more students have the opportunity to attend our programs, Envision does offer a limited number of scholarships based on financial need, scholastic merit, and leadership achievement. Submission of a scholarship application is required to be considered for an award.
